Student Federalists Meet To Discuss Future Plans

Inaugurating themselves as a formal chapter of the Student Federalists, a group of students met Friday, Nov. 22, to draw a constitution, elect officers, and discuss future plans of the organization. Melville Kahn was elected president; Richard Plumer, vice-president; Wesley Cofer, Jr., secretary-treasurer; and John Fritz, corresponding secretary.

"The executive council of the chapter is to meet early next week to arrange for an open meeting of the Student Federalists to explain the aims and purposes of the organization to the student body," stated Melville Kahn.

The ultimate objective of the Student Federalists is the creation of a federal world government, either by calling a revisional convention under Article 109 of the United Nations Charter, by strengthening the United Nations through fundamental amendments under Article 108, or by utilizing other international action.

Charter Bases Given

Fundamental points incorporated into the Student Federalist charter are: 1) the stimulation of thinking on the urgent need for federal world government, 2) education in the principles of federation, 3) finding, training, and organizing of the necessary leaders, and 4) supporting all steps which will lead to federal world government.

Organizational Aims

Among the more important aims of the organization are a suggested study program to give Student Federalists a firm understanding of the principles of federalism and the need for world government; publication of a newspaper, The Student Federalist, which will incorporate analyses of, and comments on, current issues bearing upon federal world government; continuous exploration by Student Federalist veterans of the attitudes of veterans' organizations bearing upon world federation; promotion of Student Federalist organizations.

New Fund May Aid June Ball Finances

June Ball financial problems may be solved in part by a "William and Mary June Ball Fund," already open for contributions from students, alumni and anyone interested.

Bernie Goldstein, student at the college, proposed and made the first one dollar contribution to the Fund in letter to The FLAT HAT Saturday. The FLAT HAT will continue to receive contributions of cash and checks drawn to the "William and Mary June Ball Fund" and will publish the name of each donor.

Goldstein's letter cites the Virginia Military Institute's drive for a $1,500,000 endowment fund and continues:

"William and Mary, at the moment, is faced with a problem of financing the June Ball. Reports Carter in The FLAT HAT 'The Board of Visitors is unwilling to underwrite it and the state will not let the school use any state funds to help.' Though the present problem differs in purpose from that of VMI, the goal is similar, that of raising funds for the college.

"VMI has appealed directly to its alumni for aid. Why can't William and Mary do likewise? No former student of William and Mary, or present one for that matter, can refuse to help restore the June Ball.

"Carter's column suggests 'progressive steps be taken,' and few would disagree with such a move. A step in that direction would be the $1.00 contribution for a William and Mary June Ball Fund. 'Here's mine.'"

Backdrop Club Begins Production Of Variety Show

Variety show preparations will be discussed at a meeting of the Backdrop club tonight in Washington 100 at 8 p. m. Rux Birnie, newly-elected president of the club, has urged all students interested in either performing or production to attend.

Officers And Directors

Other officers, elected at the first meeting of the reactivated organization, are as follows: Bob Sanderson, vice-president and business manager; Ken McGinn, director; Ginna Lewis, secretary; and Dick Owens, treasurer.

Directors for the show have also been appointed. They are as follows: Don Merriman and Roy Ash, music; Willard Smith, script and feature; Orville Vaughn, staging; and Jean Culter, dance. Phyllis E. Kendall and Roger D. Sherman, fine arts instructors, have been named faculty advisors. A faculty supervisor has not yet been chosen.

The first act of the script has already been written and music for several songs has been composed. Casting will begin immediately after Christmas vacation. Following spring vacation, joint rehearsals will start.

Membership Open To All

Rux has asked everyone who is interested in working on any phase of the show to join the Backdrop club. "Membership is for everyone on campus. The only requirement is that you participate in some phase of production for the variety show. Cards and keys will be awarded to those who show an active interest," Rux stated.

Junior Class Sponsors Third Annual Barefoot Ball

Juniors will sponsor the third annual Barefoot Ball on Saturday, Nov. 30. The dance will be held in Blow gym from 9 p. m. to 11:45.

The mystery theme "a penny a pound" will be revealed at the dance. As in previous years, all shoes will be checked at the door. Refreshments will be served in the lounge.

Holiday Hopes Fade As Fuel Use Tightens

W-M And Nation Await Outcome Of UMW Strike, Cut Heat, Light

An extended Thanksgiving vacation is definitely out of the picture and the fate of the Saturday night dance hangs in the balance as William and Mary goes into its second day of sharp fuel curtailment.

With the rest of the nation, the college awaits the outcome of the contempt proceedings opening tomorrow at 10 a. m. against John L. Lewis. Estimates of weeks-long continuation of the United Mine Workers strike called by Lewis were reflected in general preparation for a long, cold seige.

Rumors of a Monday night meeting of college administration officials to discuss a holiday from Wednesday to Monday were expressly denied by Charles J. Duke, Jr., chairman of the College Emergency Committee on the Conservation of Fuel and Power. Other informants declared that the college has enough coal to last until

Broadcast Tonight To Feature Rally

W-M, U-R Rooters Will Vie In Cheering

Under the direction of the newly-formed Radio club, the once annual two-way broadcast of the William and Mary-University of Richmond pre-game pep rally will be resumed tonight. Station WRNL will broadcast the rally directly from Phi Beta Kappa hall from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

Sammy Banks, sports announcer, will interview Coach "Rube" McCray and Captain Denver Mills. The William and Mary Pep Band will play, and Tom Athey, head cheerleader, will direct the cheering section.

Last Friday evening, Nov. 22, at 7:45 p. m. Wilford Leach presented his original script, "Opera Soiree," over WRNL. This broadcast from Phi Beta Kappa auditorium was the fourth in the weekly series.

Radio Club Sponsors Broadcasts

The Radio Club, organized early this month, sponsors the weekly broadcasts. Officers of the club are as follows: Ace Livick, president; Molly Prince, secretary; and Joan LeFevre, treasurer. Other members include Nancy Lee Seal, Mary McCarthy, Bill Hux, Wilford Leach, Jan Wolfe, Terry Dew, Sammy Banks, Virginia Wierum, Sumner Rand, Clint Atkinson, Helen Fisher, Dick Owens, Perry Squires, and Jim Riley, student engineer. Miss Phyllis E. Kendall, instructor in fine arts, is the director and student advisor.

Delegates Exchange Visits For Discussion Of Football Rivalry

A drive to abolish the vandalism which has attended William and Mary-Richmond football rivalry in past years was the occasion for exchange visits by delegates from both Colleges last week.

Five University of Richmond delegates, headed by student government President Solon Cousins, appeared before 100 William and Mary students at a mass meeting Wednesday night, Nov. 20, in Phi Beta Kappa hall. In a short address, Cousins outlined a five-point plan to "combat the ill-feeling bred between schools."

The Richmond delegation included Thad Crump, managing editor of the Collegian; Cliff Long, editor of the Collegian; D. W. Mallory, president of the senior class; and Larry Yoffy, chairman of the Honor council.

Five hundred fifty Richmond students, attending a compulsory convocation on Thursday, Nov. 21, heard F. E. Clark's appeal for "spirit, but no vandalism."

I think the student body has been unduly criticized for its lack of interest as measured by the attendance of 100 at the mass meeting last Wednesday night, because a meeting of this type affects too few students.

However, my argument has not been favorably received, and the burden now rests upon you. The student body will have to carry the ball in the drive to cut coal consumption during the present emergency. This is a proper measure of your interest, and only your complete cooperation can prevent William and Mary from closing and having to make up the lost time next summer. We can't fumble this time.

Most sincerely,
F. E. Clark.

Christmas if too excessive demands are not made upon it by other state institutions.

Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, assistant dean of women, said last night that a decision may be made today on whether the junior class Barefoot Ball will be held Saturday night. She expressed the

ODK Members To Collect Shoes

Shoes for indigent professors in Austria will be collected this week in a door-to-door canvass by members of Omicron Delta Kappa.

The new project of the men's honorary fraternity is being handled with the co-operation of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors. The AAUP will provide funds for sending boxes of shoes to Austria when ODK has completed its drive.

Dr. Edgar M. Foltin, head of the psychology department at William and Mary last year and now on leave of absence from the College while he serves as legal advisor to the American Military Government in Austria, wrote to people at the College of the destitute situation of the Austrian professors. He explained that while most of the students had shoes left from their army service, the professors were unable to get them.

Harry Stinson, president of ODK, announced the drive for wearable shoes and asked the full co-operation of all the men in the college.

Kroll String Quartet To Present Concert Of Haydn, Prokofieff, Schubert Music

Chamber music presented by the Kroll String Quartet will be heard in the second of the William and Mary Concert Series on Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 8 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa auditorium.

Featured on the program will be works of Josef Haydn, Serge Prokofieff, and Franz Schubert.

Known formerly as the Coolidge Quartet, the Kroll String Quartet has made extensive concert tours in the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Honolulu. It comes to the College under the auspices of the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation of the Library of Congress.

Members Receive Honors

William Kroll, a student of Henri Marteau in Berlin and of Franz Kniesel in New York, who plays the first violin, received the Coolidge medal for services to chamber music in 1942. Louis Graeler, violinist, a New Yorker, has recently served as a member of the N.B.C. orchestra. At the age of 16, Nathan Gordon, violist, was awarded a fellowship at the Juilliard Graduate School in New York; he has also served in the N.B.C. orchestra. Cellist Avron Twerdowsky, a pupil of Alfred Wallenstein and Emanuel Feuermann, has played with the Columbia Symphony Orchestra of C.B.S.

"Among string quartets at present appearing in America, the Kroll Quartet occupies a leading place by virtue of its brilliance and versatility, and the excellence of its taste and technical perfection," stated Andrew C. Haigh, associate professor of fine arts.

Tickets are available at the information desk in Marshall-Wythe, and they will be sold at the box office the night of the performance.

The Kroll String Quartet, pictured above will perform in Phi Beta Kappa hall on Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 8 p. m.

College is primarily an educational function in life. Yet few of the continuous student complaints deal with the courses they take or desired changes in the curriculum.

It was with some surprise that the editors last week printed two letters dealing with this subject. There should be a steady stream of definite suggestions for improvements or additional courses, coming from the entire student body.

It's Your Education

These requests should be written up and handed to Dr. William Guy, who is the faculty chairman of the Committee on Curriculum. Individual gripes cannot be heard by the committee and most often are not carefully thought out plans for change. In a case where a large number of students feel the need of a course in a certain subject, a formal petition would certainly get some attention.

In answer to student needs, one such change is being tried. The psychology department, under the direction of Dr. Royal Embree, is offering a voluntary program in basic skills and in occupational choice. This is a test in addition to the curriculum that will measure student support.

There have been half-hearted proposals that there should be courses given in vocabulary and speech correction, sex hygiene, a survey of religious philosophy, recent American literature, and further work in secretarial science. So far, there has been no organized request for any of these.

The faculty wants student ideas and support. Constructive criticism is a healthy sign. The machinery is there and it is your education. If you want changes go after them in a positive way!

Letter To The Editor:

Give A Rousing Cheer

To the Editor:

It's about time that the College of William and Mary adopted some new ideas on allowing our cheerleaders to appear at out-of-town games. How can we possibly have a successful team if the administration and students refuse to back it? For example, the cheerleaders were refused the permission to appear on the field at Griffith Stadium during the game with George Washington on the grounds that there weren't enough students there to have a cheering section. Therefore, the cheerleaders had to sit in the stands while brave little bands of Indians tried in vain to lead their own cheering sections. What can the administration hope to gain through their actions? We must have the backing of the student body if we are to have a winning team. And to have the backing of the students we must have our cheerleaders on the field to lead organized cheers.

The following quotations from various members of the football team show how they feel about school spirit at William and Mary:

Hank Blanc: "It takes more than a good team to win a ball game."

Jackie Freeman: "It certainly helps the boys to know that the students are behind them."

Buddy Lex: "School spirit at William and Mary isn't worth a damn."

Tommy Thompson: "The students aren't knocking themselves out over school spirit."

There is still one more game to be played this year, and that game promises to be one of our toughest. The University of Richmond in Richmond is really gunning for this game because a win over William and Mary will give Richmond the honor of being the first state team to beat William and Mary since 1939, not to mention Richmond's annexing the State Football championship. The following are quotations from two members of the team, telling what they think about the Richmond game:

Knox Ramsey: "I'll bet anybody two-bits that they can't out-yell Richmond Thursday. It's going to be a tough game and the boys will need all the support possible."

Jack Bruce: "If we're to beat Richmond, we had better have more spirit than we had against George Washington, and I don't mean 'bottled spirits'."

It's about time the administration and students realized the importance of school spirit and did something about it. We as students can do our part, then maybe the administration will do theirs.

Carter Gives B'u(dl)iup Bird Free Ride On

William And Mary-Go-Round

After attending the Coffee club meeting at the corner Greek's the other night, I decided to take the center walk on my way back to the dorm. As I passed Lord Botetourt's statue, an off-color bird alighted on my shoulder and cordially asked, "Going by the Wren building, Bud?" When I replied in the affirmative, he asked if he might ride that far on my shoulder as he was tired of flying. When I was sure he was firmly perched, I walked on.

Noting the surprise registered on my face, the bird decided to tell me about himself. His name was Athelstane and he was of the B'u(dl)iup family... an FFV yet. Also, the B'u(dl)iup family is a conventional one... they are always taking off for conventions. I noticed that he was a medium-sized bird, very inquisitive, somewhat a politician, very cocky, and very sly.

It seems that Athelstane had been flying north from Florida for the winter season and to attend the Birds-Eye convention in Atlantic City. Being a sport, he had proffered excuses to his wife in order to stay over six months to take in the "Miss America" contest on the side.

Rain, however, had interrupted his flight and he had been forced down in Williamsburg for several days. After greeting Botty with a flourishing "How now," he asked directions to a nice place to spend the night. Botty answered rather stoically, "For a bird like you... the Wren building, of course."

Athelstane remained unruffled at this and engaged in a conversation with Botty. Soon afterwards they became very good friends... his lordship often calling Athel. It seems that the B'u(dl)iup bird had something on Botty.

We reached the Wren Building but curiosity wouldn't let me leave. We talked on.

The subject of automobiles came up and Athel said that according to his great-great grandfather, Osmund, it wasn't Patrick Henry who uttered those famous words, "Give me liberty or give me death." Oh no, it was some student exasperated because the college wouldn't permit carriages to be brought to school. It seems that Osmund was flying to some convention in Philly about that time and bad weather had forced him down in Williamsburg for several days... that is why he knows.

Athel said he had asked Botty about the wonderful fraternity houses his father, Leander, had often discussed. (Leander had visited Williamsburg frequently before the war.) So Botty explains... "The houses are blocks off campus... therefore autos are illegally used to rush the students to campus in the morning and rush them back in the evening. By eliminating the houses many birds will not be killed by the speeding autos... strictly a protective measure for the birds." To which Athel replied simply, "I knew it was for the birds, but I didn't know why until now."

At that time the bell began clanging and Athel exclaimed "Gotta go now... I just love to swing on that damn rope."

Pritchard Takes Up The Cudgels

For Fraternity Houses

A story for all little boys and little girls:

Once upon a time there were 11 little boys who all went to the same school and lived in the same neighborhood. Each had a club house in his back yard which he had built himself. The little boys had wonderful times in their club houses; they built model airplanes, gave parties, and had secret meetings. There were nine little sisters of the boys and they had doll houses where they played house, had their lunches, and had secret meetings. They all had a wonderful time individually and together.

But the Mothers of the little boys and little girls got upset about the boys' club houses. The Mothers pointed out that the little boys were untidy and that they were always asking for extra money to keep them in condition. So after the Mothers had met and decided what was to be done, they told the little boys that they couldn't have their club houses weren't their own. didn't say anything to the little girls because the girls helped the Mothers by sewing and making things in their doll houses.

The little boys got awfully mad and banded together. They told the Mothers that if their club houses were taken away, they'd sulk and run away from home and never would cooperate. The Mothers were afraid of these threats so they dropped the matter for the rest of the year.

Now when the hot weather was the hottest, the little boys went away to camp. The little girls stayed home and played in their doll houses. And while the little boys were away, the Mothers took their things from the club houses and stored them away. They rented the club houses to some other people to store their garden tools and flower pots in.

When the hot weather was over, the boys came back home to find their club houses weren't their own. When they tried to get the Mothers to give them back the Mothers said "Oh no, you can use the spare room for your club meetings." Now everyone knows that little boys don't like to use the spare room to keep frogs and rabbit tobacco in. And how can a spare room be secret when the Mothers are always coming in to get their sewing boxes? So the little boys asked the Mothers again and got the same reply. The little girls tried to help the little boys because they couldn't understand why they could keep their doll houses when the little boys couldn't keep their club houses.

We haven't heard the end of this story yet. We do feel sorry for the little boys and we want to give them a word of advice which we'd like the Mothers to listen to. "Don't go away to fight for what is home for when you get back, it may not be there."

An answer to a question:

In an interview with Dr. Pomfret Friday, concerning the possibility of extending the limits of the College boundaries to include the new club on the Newport News road, the president said, "The College will not extend its traditional boundaries since it sees no reason for doing so."

Some people have it and some don't:

If the relations between William and Mary and Richmond University before the Thanksgiving football game hung upon the interest of the William and Mary student body, we doubt if there would be a brick left on either campus by Thursday. Approximately 100 students attended the mass meeting in Phi Beta Kappa hall Wednesday night to hear the president of the Richmond University student body speak. But when our delegation went to Richmond on Thursday, the entire student body was assembled.

Open Letter To The Students:

Disgrace Of Student Government

To the Editor:

Last Wednesday night, the student government of William and Mary was disgraced: disgraced not only in the eyes of its own students, but in the eyes of the students of another school. On that night, if you will recall, two meetings were called; a meeting of the whole student body and a meeting of the freshman class. Both of them were scheduled for 7 p. m. and when this conflict was discovered, it was arranged that the students who showed up for the Freshman meeting would be sent to attend the mass meeting of the student body first and that the freshman meeting would be held immediately afterwards at the same place. Between the attendance for both these meetings, the attendance for the first meeting should have been quite large. Both the meetings were adequately publicized and if less than 75 percent of the student body was not aware of them, then the students must all be blind or in love.

A group of delegates from the student government of the University of Richmond were the guests and the president of their student body was the speaker. Any estimate of more than 100 students in attendance at that meeting would be decidedly generous. And yet, the next day, when F. E. Clark and five members of our student Senate went up to Richmond, their student body was there en masse. At Richmond, they have compulsory assemblies. Maybe that's what William and Mary needs. Would the students like that?

At the organization of the Freshman class which was held immediately afterwards, there were exactly 62 students present. There are approximately 450 freshmen and I don't think it would have been unreasonable to expect at least half the class to turn out.

One of the bitterest gripes one hears on campus is "Why can't the students have more say about what goes on around here?" Yet apparently it's asking too much to expect these students to take the least bit of time and trouble to come out and express their views in a constructive manner when they are given the opportunity. One of the chief functions of a class government is to get the opinions of the students, pass them on to the student government through their representatives where, if found feasible, these opinions are put into the form of recommendations and passed onto the administration. The student government can and has accomplished some really progressive steps, when the students have really made their will felt and put their support behind it.

Sincerely,
John W. Dalton.

Let's Cool Off!

To the Editor:

What's the matter with William and Mary, anyway? Personally, I like the place a lot—it's pretty, it's friendly, there's right much to do if your tastes are simple.

We have a right to get hot under the collar if we want to, but we might cool off and consider every now and then just how lucky we are.

Sincerely,
Optimist.

Lodge To Open For Private Parties

Sororities and fraternities may rent the Lodge Game Room for private dances until March 15, officials of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., have announced. Hours for these dances will conform to hours set for college dances, according to Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, assistant dean of women.

The Game Room will not be available for dances after March 15, because of the tourist season. Friday, Feb. 14, is also reserved.

The Lodge will furnish glassware and tables for refreshments, a band stand and an orchestra platform. John D. Green, manager of the Lodge, has asked that he be contacted at least two weeks in advance of any scheduled dance.

Red Cross representatives are working out a Guide System for patients of Eastern State Hospital who are able to walk around the town. This guide system will be used to conduct the Eastern State people on the Restoration tour and perhaps to William and Mary athletic events. "Anyone who is interested in this work should contact either Hal Eastman, new vice-chairman, or me," said Jerry Willard. "This work is purely voluntary and will be done in the afternoons."

Plans are under way for the Christmas program to be held at Eastern State. A marionette show will be featured on the program and several musical selections will follow.

Christmas boxes for the needy people in Europe were suggested in a letter from Dotty Raymond, '45, now in Europe with her father. She described some of the prevailing conditions in Germany at the present time and expressed the opinion that any contributions would be greatly appreciated.

opinion that while the aim is to cut down consumption of fuel for heat and light, careful thought will be taken before complete curtailment of social functions occurs.

Meanwhile, definite cuts in heat and light for college buildings have begun under the direction of the Emergency Committee, and the Student Assembly in a special session last night set up a program to gain student support.

Assembly Action

Beginning yesterday, steam in all college buildings other than living quarters is being stopped at 4:30 p. m., and in dwellings at 9:30 p. m. The library is the only building on the campus which is not affected by the power restrictions. Heat is resumed each morning at 6:30 a. m.

A Coal Conservation Committee appointed by F. E. Clark at the extraordinary Assembly session last night will provide publicity through posters and news broadcasts in the cafeteria. Headed by Herbert Bateman, the committee includes Ken Schmalenberger, Harry Stinson, Barbara Simons, Jane Copland, Fran Moore and John Dayton.

The overall Emergency Committee for the college includes under Chairman Duke, Dr. Sharvy G. Umbeck, J. Wilfred Lambert, Dr. Grace Warren Landrum, John E. Hocutt, Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, L. C. Willoughby and F. E. Clark.

Let's Look At The Record

By H. REID

Probably the best idea any of the major recording companies have had in a long time is in the reissuing of eight of the best sides Harry James ever waxed in the Columbia album titled, ALL TIME FAVORITES. Included in this package are both the ONE and TWO O'CLOCK JUMPS, MUSIC MAKERS, THE FLIGHT OF THE BUMBLE BEE, and his theme, CIRIBIRIBIN, which spots an unaffected Sinatra vocal. All rare items until now, the price of the album and four records is placed at the pre-war level. Columbia, in refusing to raise prices, is far ahead of their price-jacking major competitors.

Spike Jones shelves his cowbells, anvils, and the like, to turn out two almost legitimate sides, LASSUS TROMBONE and MINKA. The former spots some pretty fair T. Dorsey-ish slidehorn; the other is a wild sort of thing, featuring imitations of James, Clyde McCoy, and Henry Busse. (Victor).

The best dance record bet is Frankie Carle's IT'S ALL OVER NOW. For a dance band, the Carlemen have a good beat. The maestro's stylistic keyboarding, and his daughter's thoroughly capable vocal all add up to good listening—and many $$$ in the juke boxes. Backing on this Columbia release is a boy-belle vocal featuring Gregg Lawrence and Mar-porie Hughes in the ditty EITHER IT'S LOVE OR IT ISN'T from the show, DEAD RECKONING.

Vogue, the plastic picture-record that was mentioned in this column some time ago, has come up with their best pressing to date in their release of Charlie Shavers Quintet doing BROADJUMP and SERENADE TO A PAIR OF NYLONS. Shavers blows a beautiful horn, and drummer Alvin Stoller sets a good beat in the background.

Med Students Asked To Make Applications

Medical school students interested in entering schools in September, 1947, have been urged to make applications immediately by Dr. Roy P. Ash, of the biology department.

Dr. Ash stated: "State-supported institutions are committed to accepting residents of the state but everything else being equal it will be to a very great extent,—first come, first served. There is evidence to show the greater number of applications for admission, and this influx means the next class will be filled much earlier than usual. Many applicants will not get the school of their choice, and many will not be admitted at all."

Charles Beatty Addresses Student Religious Union

"In addition to putting on the weekly broadcasts, the purpose of the club is also to arouse student interest in the hope that we will have a future college radio station," stated Ace Livick, president. Miss Kenall, in the fine arts building, is taking applications for membership in the club from students with previous experience in radio.

McCormick And Smith To Resign From College

Sharvy G. Umbeck, dean of the college, recently announced that Dr. W. W. McCormick, head of the physics department, and Charles Smith, associate professor of education and high school counselor, will resign from the William and Mary faculty staff.

Dr. McCormick will leave the William and Mary staff on February 1, to return to the University of Michigan, where he will resume his position in the physics department. Mr. Smith will resign to accept the position of Superintendent of Schools in Hopewell, Va.

Dean To Give Out Forms For Navy College Program

John E. in other countries; and establishment of student forums to stimulate monthly national discussions bearing upon federation.

Groundwork for the chapter here on this campus was made by the appearance of Colgate Prentice, national president of Student Federalists, as guest speaker of the Canterbury club on October 13, when he lectured on the topic, "World Government versus the U. N."

"Historically, Student Federalists is an outgrowth of Clarence Streit's 'Union Now' organization," stated Melville Kahn. "All of the major youth groups working for world federation met at Concord, Mass., to plan the part they could play in building federal world government. While in meeting, they established an enlarged Student Federalist movement, uniting in a common policy and program of action."

Tribe, Spiders To Meet For State Title

Tommy Korczowski, After Great Beginning, Posts Remarkable Collegiate Grid Record

By H. REID

The Rube was in one of his moaning moods. He had a right to be. Catawba College had just pulled two time worn plays—the Statue of Liberty—on William and Mary, scoring as a result of one of them, and the Carolina Indians led McCray's charges 6-0 in what was supposed to have been a warmup game for William and Mary at the start of last season.

Nobody in the stands paid too much attention to a bandy-legged little back that Rube sent in as a substitution. Probably just another little guy with a big name, they figured. But not for long. The incredibly small back swivel-hipped and dodged his way over the last stripe not once, but three times before the Catawbans—or anybody else, for that matter, knew what was happening. The same diminutive speed merchant didn't spend much time as a substitute after this performance. The name "Tommy Korczowski" began appearing in the William and Mary starting lineups with frequency.

College Career Impressive

Scoring three times in his first college start was quite a beginning for Tommy. And he didn't let up all through the '45 season, dispelling the label, "Flash in the pan," that a few skeptics had placed upon him. Tommy had 48 points to his credit last year, good enough to rate him a runner-up scoring title not only in the state circuit, but in the Southern Conference, as well. Had it not been for a knee injury incurred about mid-season, it is highly probable that he would have been the top scorer in both loops.

His first collegiate varsity season was a far cry from his past experience on the gridiron. Tommy began playing football on the sandlots at Hopeland, N. J., and when he feached high school, he earned a spot on the junior varsity team of Woodbridge High during his sophomore year. Oddly enough he did not play his customary backfield position, but was stationed in the jay-vee's front wall at the guard slot.

The following year, Tommy was moved to wingback, and in his senior year, the fleet-footed Jersey boy was playing fullback on the varsity team, which used the tee formation. Averaging 10 yards a try, Tommy, who co-captained the squad, often racked up 20-yard runs, and was awarded All-County (Middlesex) and All-State laurels.

Outstanding In Baseball

Baseball is the sport which probably appeals to Tommy more than any other. Tommy, a shortstop, has an unusual fielding stance, one which gives one the impression that Tommy is stationed at the edge of the infield where he could be waiting for a streetcar, or something. All doubts of this are banished when a ball is hit anywhere on his side of the infield, however, as Tommy springs like a cat and has a dead-sure throwing arm. Tommy is a dangerous hitter. His high school average read something like .439, and his last year's college record is of the same caliber. Scouts from the New York Giants, the Boston Red Sox and about a half a dozen other major league teams have made him enticing offers, but Tommy turned them all down, wanting an education first.

Another Korczowski

Korczowski is a familiar name at William and Mary. Tommy's uncle, Johnny, was a player not unknown in 1942, in which season the elder Korczowski, a fullback, was the Southern Conference pace setter of scoring. It was largely because of Johnny that Tommy decided to enter William and Mary.

This season, Tommy is still going like a house afire, although he has again been hampered by injuries. The left halfback, who is only five-ten and weighs a conservative 165, is among the top dozen in yards gained by rushing and passing, having gained 664 yards in but 48 plays (much less than any of his other competitors) and a sizable 430 yards gained in 28 plays of plain rushing.

Richmond Record Shows Six Wins, Two Deadlocks

Having seen their hopes of the Southern Conference title evaporate as a result of North Carolina's victory over Duke, the Indians tackle the University of Richmond on Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Richmond City Stadium in a game which will decide the State championship.

To compare with the Tribe's mark of seven victories and two defeats, the Spiders have a record of six wins and a pair of ties in nine starts. They have taken care of Randolph-Macon, Maryland, Hampden-Sydney, Washington and Lee, the University of Virginia and Davidson by comfortable margins, with their only setback being a 41-0 shellacking at the hands of Duke's erratic Blue Devils. Richmond's two deadlocks were with V. M. I. and V. P. I., both contests ending with 7-7 scores.

Successful Season

Under the tutelage of Coach Johnny Fenlon, the Red and Blue has marked up its most successful season in several years and would like to upset the Braves and bring to an end the domination which has been continued for the past seven years, the last Spider triumph coming in 1938.

Led by Co-captains Fritz Laurinaitis and Houston Sizer, guard and end, respectively, the enemy line packs plenty of power. John Zizak, one of the State's better guards, won second-team All-State honors last year and may repeat.

Jackie Null, the diminutive center and the only member of the 1945 squad to gain a first-string All-State berth, may be unable to participate in the forthcoming tilt because of a broken collar bone, which he suffered in the game with V.P.I. Letterman Line

The entire forward wall is composed of lettermen, some of whom have had two seasons of experience, while only one starting back, Pat Fenlon, has earned a monogram.

What the backfield lacks in experience, however, it makes up for in ability. Jack Wilbourne, Ed "Sugar" Ralston and Bill "Gogo" Cocco form a trio which has contributed much to each Spider victory. Coach Fenlon refers to Wilbourne as "the best back I have ever seen in a Richmond uniform."

Four Indians Make All-State

William and Mary placed four men, Tommy Thompson, Tommy Korczowski, Jack Cloud and Ralph Sazio on the 1946 All-State football squad named today by the Associated Press. Richmond's Spiders also had a quartet selected, while Washington and Lee, V. M. I. and V. P. I. each gained one position.

The entire Indian starting lineup was represented as four players made the second team and three were placed on the third string. Bob Steckroth and Knox Ramsey, both of whom have turned in fine performances all season, were relegated to the second team.

First team selections:

Ends: Bill Chiple, Washington and Lee, and Doc Savage, Richmond; tackles: Ralph Sazio, William and Mary, and Malachi Mills, V. M. I.; guards: Jack Cooke, V.P.I., and Fritz Laurinaitis, Richmond; center: Tommy Thompson, William and Mary; backs: Jack Wilbourne, Richmond, Tommy Kor-czowski, William and Mary, Ed Ralston, Richmond, and Jack Cloud, William and Mary.

Second team:

Ends: Bob Steckroth and Lou Hoitsma, William and Mary; tackles: John Maskas, V. P. I., and Joe Kirkland, Virginia; guards: Knox Ramsey, William and Mary, and Bernie Skladany, V. M. I.; center: Jack Null, Richmond; backs: Tom Mikula, William and Mary, Bob Thomason, V. M. I., Jack Hutchinson, V. M. I., and Ralph Beard, V. P. I.

Third team:

Ends: Elmer Wilson, V. P. I., and Thomas Dudley, Virginia; tackles: Harry Caughron, William and Mary, and Jack Ittner, V. P. I.; guards: Jim McDowell, William and Mary, and Bill Barbour, V. P. I.; center: Joe Hoffman, V. P. I.; backs: Bob Longacre, William and Mary, Bruce Bailey, Virginia, Charlie Harrington, Washington and Lee, and Bobby Smith, V. P. I.

TRIBETOPICS

By ED GRIFFIN

With the finale of every William and Mary football season, the annual Thanksgiving Day battle with the University of Richmond, being just a few hours away, it seems a good move to inform this column's faithful followers of a few facts which have been gained by glancing through the record of past performances.

Richmond won the opening contest in 1898 by a 15-0 count and gaining momentum, hammered out a 40-0 decision in the second struggle. There was no game in 1900 but the Spiders triumphed again the following season, 27-11. Then, after a lapse of two years, the Indians finally captured their initial victory in 1904, hanging up a 15-6 score. Ever since that time the series has been unbroken, except in 1943 when William and Mary had only an informal team.

Forty-six conflicts have been waged since 1898. Richmond has come out on top 22 times, the Tribe has won 21 games and three have ended in ties. Therefore, an Indian success on Thursday would make the totals even and put both elevens right back where they started, as far as superiority is concerned.

There have been 29 shutouts, 15 for W&M and 14 for the Red and Blue. Two of the deadlocks, the 1927 fracas and the first game in 1905, were scoreless. Two tilts took place in the latter year and in 1919. The Braves whitewashed their foes, 4-0, in 1905 and 7-0 in '19. The Spiders came back to take the second one of that season by a 17-0 count.

From 1912-1923 Richmond almost completely dominated the series. During this period they won 11 out of 12 starts, whitewashing the Redmen seven times. In 1916 they rolled up the largest total of the entire competition, coming out on the long end of a 48-0 score.

The law of averages, however, put the Tri-Color on top from 1923 through 1930. This string of seven victories was marred only by the 0-0 meeting in '27. Applying the whitewash brush five times, the Braves held their foes to just 12 points during the eight seasons. The Red and Blue crossed the goal line once in 1924 and didn't repeat this performance until '31.

Theta Wins Swimming Title, As Baitzell, Littlefield Star

Kappa Alpha Theta won the final women's swimming meet in Blow pool on Friday night. Kappa Kappa Gamma followed close behind in second place. Alpha Chi and Gamma Phi placed third and fourth, respectively.

Dorothy Baitzell and Betty Littlefield, of Kappa Alpha Theta, took top honors by winning two events apiece. Dottie finished first in the two freestyle races while Betty won both the diving and the 40-yard breast stroke.

Other swimmers who made the winning list were Virginia Whittemore, of Alpha Chi Omega, and Jean Morgan, a Kappa Kappa Gamma. Ginny was fourth in the 40-yard freestyle and first in the 40-yard backstroke.

Results of the 20-yard freestyle included Baitzell, Kappa Alpha Theta, first; Wedell, Alpha Chi Omega, and Wilcox, Gamma Phi Beta, tie for second place.

In the 40-yard freestyle Baitzell, Kappa Alpha Theta, finished first; Seaton, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Morgan, Kappa Kappa Gamma, tie for second.

Littlefield, Kappa Alpha Theta, placed first in the 40-yard breaststroke; Morton, Kappa Kappa Gamma, second.

Whittmore, Alpha Chi Omega, won the 40-yard backstroke; Black, Kappa Kappa Gamma, placed second.

In the 80-yard relay Kappa Alpha Theta was first; Kappa Kappa Gamma, second; Alpha Chi Omega, third; and Gamma Phi Beta, fourth.

Kappa Kappa Gamma placed first in the 60-yard medley; Kappa Alpha Theta, second; Gamma Phi Beta, third, and Alpha Chi Omega, fourth.

Littlefield, Kappa Alpha Theta, placed first in the diving; Morgan, Kappa Kappa Gamma, second, Woodberry, Alpha Chi Omega, third; and Simons, Gamma Phi Beta, fourth.

Freshmen Capture Honors In Hockey

Winning two straight contests over the sophomores and victorious by default over the junior-senior combine, the freshman class hockey team won the mythical college hockey championship title.

In the first engagement between the freshmen and sophomores the frosh rang up two points on goals by Seiler and Lyons while Philhower scored the lone marker for the sophs. The second contest was again taken by the frosh by the same score, 2-1. Seiler scored both of her team's points in the second half after the sophs had retained a 1-0 advantage during the first stanza.

The final contest between the junior-senior team and the freshmen was forfeited by the upperclassmen when only four of their players appeared at game time.

Jerry Jerow captained the winning team while Penny Allenbaugh and Laurie Pritchard had charge of the sophomore and junior-senior teams respectively.

Kappa Delta Takes Ping Pong Laurels

Dropping only one match out of twelve, Kappa Delta triumphed in the intramural ping pong tournament last week with a 2-1 decision over Alpha Chi Omega in the finals. In a playoff for third and fourth places Chi Omega defeated Gamma Phi Beta, two matches to none.

Kappa Delta Wins

Two of the closest games of the tournament were played in the finals. In the first match Wilsey, KD, led Coumbe, Alpha Chi, 20-19; however, the former served a fault deucing the game and Coumbe eventually triumphed 23-21. Ax-ford won over Wierum for KD by the same score. In the deciding doubles match the teamwork of McLaughlin and Dilsey won the title for their sorority with a 21-14 victory over their opponents.

Bridge intramurals will begin Dec. 2. Further information will be posted on the bulletin board outside Jefferson hall.

Beatty and Elaine Passow defeated Carol Passow and Sloan, respectively, to give the Chi Omegas a two-match lead. Gamma Phi Beta won the doubles in a tight match, 21-17.

Jefferson Triumphs

Jefferson hall won top honors in the dormitory league followed by Barrett hall in second place and Chandler hall in the third position.

Macken rang up the first point for Barrett as she beat Horowitz, 21-8, but Chandler won the match when Caffrey lost to Merner and the doubles also went to Chandler. Cleaver scored the lone point for Jefferson against Barrett as Macken won her singles and doubles, teaming with Caffrey in the latter event. Jefferson won the championship on the total number of matches won when they declared Chandler, 3-0.

Co-ed Court Squad Lists Farmville, N.C., Hunter, N.Y.U. On Tough Schedule

Eight games have been tentatively scheduled for the coed varsity basketball team during the coming season, announced Miss Martha Barksdale, varsity coach, and Lois Willis, varsity manager.

The Squaws will open the season with a home game against Notre Dame of Maryland on Feb. 8. Trying to repeat its victory of last year, William and Mary will face the same sort of hard and fast playing that they encountered last year.

Face North Carolina

On Feb. 15, the University of North Carolina will invade Williamsburg for the first time in over five years of varsity sports. West-hampton offers the first contest away from home with a game scheduled for Feb. 19. Last year, the Richmonders eked out a close victory, and the Squaws will be playing to reverse those results this year.

William and Mary next plays hostess to two more Virginia teams. Sweet Briar, who sent the Tri-Color coeds crashing to defeat in the last minute of last season's game, visits the colonial town Feb. 22. On March 1, Farmville will play in the guest spot on the home lasses' calendar. Last year, the teachers scored a decisive win over William and Mary in the Squaws' initial match of the season, so once again the Williamsburg team will be out to avenge a defeat.

New York Trip

A four-day trip to New York will bring the basketball schedule to a climactic end. Mar. 7 will find New York University playing hostess to the Squaws. The following day, the William and Mary players will face Manhattanville College on Long Island. Hunter College, probably the toughest opponent, offers stop-flight competi-

Intramural Grid Champions Still Remain To Be Decided

As the two football leagues enter the last few weeks of the season the winners in each loop remain undecided. In the Independent league three teams are deadlocked for first place with 4-1 records. Vet's Dorm joined last week's leaders, the Smart Boys and the Go Getters, when they spilled 221 Richmond Road, 7-0.

Game Of The Year

In the Frat league plans were already being made for the big game of the year between the Sigma Rho six and Bill Walsh's Sigma Alpha

Braves Prepare For Opening Tilt

William and Mary's cagemen, with three weeks of practice under their belts, are rapidly rounding into shape for the initial game with Langley Field on Dec. 7, less than two weeks away.

Coach Gallagher is quite pleased with the progress the boys have been making in these pre-season practices. He has no tentative stating team as yet, but several of the boys who have looked good are: Centers, Chet Giermak, Bob Holley and Dick Hungerford; Forwards, Charley Teach, Johnny Jorgenson, Bill Lucas, Bob Bellamy and Danny Dallet; Guards, Johnny Green, Charley Sokol, Marvin Atkins, George Totem and Leo Brenner.

Prospective Officials Sought By Co-ed Board

Swimming and basketball rules were interpreted and discussed at the last meeting of the Women's Officiating Board last Thursday, Nov. 21, in Washington 100. Miss Marian B. Reeder, chairman of the organization, presided over the meeting; and Dr. Caroline B. Sinclair led the discussion on the rules.

With basketball intramurals beginning soon, a drive for recruiting officials is being initiated. Each group playing basketball is urged to have several members of the organization participate as referees and umpires. Women students interested are requested to watch The FLAT HAT and the gymnasium bulletin board for notices.

Epsilon team in what will definitely decide the winner of this league. SAE has won seven straight games while Sigma Rho has hung up six wins without a setback.

On Nov. 29, O.D. "B" meets the Vet's Dorm in what will either make or break both teams' hopes for the championship of the Independents' league. O.D. "B" at present is in fourth place with three wins and two defeats. Sigma Alpha Epsilon meets Sigma Pi on the same day.

The winner of each league will play a game deciding the intramural championship. As a reward a group trophy or individual medals will be given to the winning team.

Last week Sigma Rho knocked over Pi Lambda Phi, 20-13, by virtue of a long Maglerio to Abbotts touchdown pass in the closing minutes of the game. Another highlight this week was a pass interception by Harry Matthews, of Club Brooklyn, who took the ball on his own goal line and ran the length of the field for a score.

Semi-Finalists

In the tennis tourney three players reached the semi-finals. Dave Ballard beat Bill Shearin, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4. Mal McCartney entered by virtue of a forfeit, while George Gondelman won over Bob Walsh, 6-1, 6-1. The other quarter-final match yet to be played is between Ken Nellis and Jack Hight.

Howard Smith, intramural director, announced that there will be a meeting of all intramural managers at the Trophy room in Blow Gym, at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Dec. 3. If the managers are unable to attend they have been asked to send a representative in their place.

Veterans Debate On Caste System

First in a series of campus debates was held last Thursday night, Nov. 21, in the Apollo room of Phi Beta Kappa hall.

Two faculty members and two students, all veterans, in an orthodox debate, argued the question, "Resolved: the 'caste system' is essential to the maintenance of discipline in the army and navy."

The three judges, Royall Embree, Dr. T. S. Cox, and Dr. H. L. Fowler, turned in a unanimous decision for the affirmative.

Ringgold Starts Debate

Gordon B. Ringgold, French professor and first speaker for the affirmative, based his argument on four points: (1) If civilian life is saturated with caste, how can we expect that the army will not also have a "caste system?" (2) The best units in the war were the ones commanded by strict, impartial, yet fair, officers. (3) Officers must be a group apart from the enlisted personnel and (4) The Soviet Union abandoned the "caste system" for a trial period and soon found that the Red Army had degenerated into undisciplined mobs.

First speaker for the negative was John Gordon, a member of the Debate council.

King Makes Four Points

Ronald King, Professor Ringgold's partner on the affirmative, made four points in furthering his argument: (1) The army must be an impersonalized organization; (2) Officers must command respect to be efficient in the line of duty; (3) Abuse, not the "caste system," is objectionable; and (4), Familiarity between officers and enlisted personnel produces an undesirable situation.

Charles Lerche, Government professor and second speaker for the negative, cited the "injustices" in the army's court martial system.

Discourse On The Shaft

Fran Moore, Chairman of Honor Council, Claims To Be Black Sheep of Her Family

"This is like trying to get bright ideas out of a vacuum, and that's pretty hard. All these other people have such terrific things to say," Fran Moore lamented when being interviewed for The FLAT HAT. Regardless of this statement, however, Fran managed to come forth with these facts.

Hailing at this moment from Indianapolis, Fran says that she feels like an orphan without a state because she has moved around so much. But she remains true to Indiana and contests Pat Jones' statement about Michigan by declaring, "Indiana skies have it all over Michigan skies," and she added, "the corn is taller."

Black Sheep

"I'm the black sheep of my family," Fran stated pointing to her dark hair. "Everyone in my family for generations has had red hair. People always take me for a visitor." Fran continued — "I can't stand living in a single room. I start talking to myself and carry on long monologues and that's a bad habit. People may begin to doubt my sanity."

An English major, Fran said that her only regret is that she can't take every English course offered. At 13, Fran's major aim in life was to write a best-seller, but when she got to chapter three and was without a plot, characters or ideas she put her attempt at fame in moth balls. She refused emphatically to divulge the subject of her masterpiece. At her present age her ambitions are almost as high. She, Nancy Easley and Jane Achenbach want to go abroad next summer and spend a year or six months working in Europe. "This is one of our pipe dreams," Fran explained, "but if I can scrape enough pennies together I want to try out my high school French in Paris." She also wants an opportunity to eat lots of Italian spaghetti which she "just loves"; another of her food favorites is Russian food "with unpronounceable names." After her trip to Europe Fran is planning to take her Master's Degree from Columbia in journalism and is interested in doing magazine work.

Chairman of Honor Council

Fran added that she liked the friendly people at college better than any thing else. "It will probably take a long time to pry myself away from William and Mary. I feel like a permanent fixture." She has proved herself to be a very useful one. In addition to being chairman of the Honor Council, she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, vice-president of Mortar Board, and is on the Assembly, the Senate, and General Co-operative committee.

Class Elects Students To Advisory Board

Government 200 elected its second Student Advisory committee, Thursday, Nov. 21. Committee members are Sallie Adams, Rux Birnie, Jack Cloud, Fred Grochowski, Bren Macken, Bernard Mikula, Richard Quynn, James Sutherland, and Dorothy Thedieck.

"The committee was selected by proportional representation, which is the best device known for assuring a committee truly representative of the students. The committee, like the one selected last semester, will be called upon to express the student viewpoint in regard to future planning of the Government 200 course," Dr. Warner W. Moss, head of the department, stated.
